DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIES AND LABOUR.

Madras, 1st October 1923.

No. L. 311.—The question of the satisfactory ventilation of cotton mills in India is one that has engaged the attention of Government and of employers for many years. The chronic conditions in the leading centres of cotton manufacture make it essential to employ artificial humidification in some departments for the greater part of the year. It is indisputable that in many cases the extent to which artificial humidification is now employed affects the health, and not infrequently the output, of the spinning machinery. But when not judiciously used, it tends to create a sense of stagnation and to produce a feeling of discomfort which might not involve considerable injury to the industry.

2. The Government of India accordingly instituted a special inquiry in 1921. The investigation which was entrusted to Mr. T. Mahony, M.C., A.M.S.E., was designed:—

(1) to obtain accurate observations regarding the method of humidification and ventilation employed in cotton mills and their effect on working conditions; and

(2) to evolve recommendations designed to effect a marked amelioration in conditions without means detrimental to the industry.

3. Mr. Mahony began his investigations in June 1921 and completed them in December 1922. As a result of continuous and systematic enquiry he was able to collect an immense mass of data bearing on the temperature, humidity and chemical purity of the air in cotton mills and the effect of the atmospheric conditions on the health and output, the efficiency and fatigue of the operatives at every month of the year. These data were subjected to careful analysis on a scale of which Mr. Mahony has been able to put forward definite recommendations for the control of ventilation and humidification in cotton factories. He also has made valuable suggestions on numerous other points of importance such as the construction of mills, the introduction of devices for the reduction of temperature in working mills and the system of humidification in employed.

4. Mr. Mahony has drawn up a detailed report which is available in confidential form. Information regarding working conditions, often the prospect of a satisfactory solution of the problem. He believes that the introduction of regulations to deal, as he suggests, with the maintenance of the working power of the mill, will add greatly to the comfort of the operatives, give materially better results in efficiency and probably represent a great saving. The Government of India directed that thereupon to published for general information. The report is accompanied by 32 statistical tables and 25 plans and the Government of India are convinced that those who are interested in the welfare of labour and in the cotton and industry will find it of great interest and value. Mr. Mahony's recommendations will be taken into consideration by the Government of India in connection with the Government and those concerned in the industry.

8. It would have been impossible for Mr. Maloney to carry out his investigations without the active co-operation accorded to him by well known and respected gentlemen in India. Their assistance and that of a number of gentlemen proved invaluable in the collection of statistical data from about 80 cotton mills, and in acknowledging the valuable services rendered by Mr. Maloney the Government of India desire also to express their thanks to all who have contributed towards the result.

The Government are however now advised that exemption from payment of land cess will not involve exemption from payment of the education cess as the latter is a separate tax leviable under the Madras Elementary Education Act, 1920, and as no provision exists in that Act for such exemption. The last sentence of G.O. No. 567, L. & M., dated 10th April 1934, is accordingly cancelled.

Provided that if the owner is satisfied that the parent or guardian of any child, resident in the municipality, is by reason of poverty unable to pay for the elementary education of such child, it may waive the whole or part of the fees, but it shall not exempt the parent or guardian of such child in consideration of the said relief to send such child to any particular municipal school.

Provided further that the amount may, with the approval of the Director of Public Instruction, exempt any pupil in a secondary school wholly or in part from payment of fees on the ground of his inability to pay such fees.

No. 349.—Under G.O. No. 2287, L. & M., dated 16 August 1935, a draft of an amendment to sub-rule (1) of rule 52 of Schedule IV of the Madras District Municipalities Act, 1920, was published for criticism.

3. The Chairman, Municipal Council, Coimbatore, apprehends that the proposed amendment has the effect of relieving the parentage of land cess in local bodies in G.O. No. 1749, P.R. (Supra), dated 12th September 1935, to exempt fees in the elementary schools under their control. He is informed that the amendment does not have this effect.

3. The Chairman also suggests that the proposed amendment may provide that where a municipal council assumes a school wholly or in part from payment of fees, it may in place of a subsidy in the provincial funds to meet the loss caused by the grant of such exemption. The Government are to accept this suggestion.

4. No other objections or suggestions having been received, the draft amendment is now submitted with the requisite modifications has been published in the Fort St. George Gazette.

THE COTTON CROP OF 1921-22—SECOND REPORT.

[On an average of the five years ending 1921-22 the area under cotton in the Madras Presidency has represented 18.9 per cent of the total area under cotton in India.]

The area sown with cotton up to the end of September 1922 is estimated at 212,000 acres, as against 212,000 acres in the corresponding date of last year or an increase of 10 per cent.

2. The increase occurs mainly in the Northern and Western limit, where the area is 41 per cent more than last year as a result of timely rains, and is counterbalanced to some extent by decrease in the Southern and the Central limit. The early crop in the Deccan suffered from drought in August, but good rains in September saved the crop, and facilitated the sowing of the late crop. Rainings are also prevailing more in the Coimbatore limit so heavy, though late, rains were received in September, and it is expected that the crop in area will be largely made up. Rainings in the northern districts have been delayed for want of rain.

3. Figures by districts are given in the statement appended.

THE PADDY CROP OF 1892-93—FIRST REPORT.

[On an average of the five years ending 1891-92, the area under paddy in the Madras Presidency has represented some 142 per cent of the total area under paddy in British India.]

The area sown with paddy up to the end of September 1893 is estimated at 5,531,269 acres. This is about 9 per cent below the estimate of 6,012,500 acres made on the corresponding date of last year.

7. There were large reductions in area in Ganjam, Yangaputnam, the Coromandel, Travincopoly and Tanjore, set off by slight increases in the Godavari and Madras Districts and in South Kanara.

In Ganjam and Yangaputnam, the South-West monsoon was late and the rainfall inadequate with the result that wet paddy under water and crops were rusted and dry paddy could not be sown to such a large extent as usual. The monsoon was a failure in the Coromandel and Travincopoly and sowings have only just started with the September rains. The Sowna in Tanjore is due to late receipt of seed in the Godavari and will be made up on sowings of the same crop are in progress. Prospects in the Godavari and Kistna deltas are better than last year, and increases in South Kanara is due to high-lying lands which are not ordinarily sown being sown with paddy on account of the unprecedented rains in July and August.

8. The first crop in Travincopoly and on the West Coast has been harvested and normal yields are reported.

SEASONAL CROP OF 1931-32—SECOND REPORT.

[On an average of the five years ending 1929-30, the area under sugarcane in Madras Presidency has represented some 4.5 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India.]

The area planted with sugarcane up to the end of September 1933 is estimated at 125,000 acres against 138,500 acres on the corresponding date of last year to a decrease of about 6 per cent.

3. The decrease is distributed over all districts except the Coimbatore and South Kanara, and is partly due to the low prices of paddy during the planting season. The greatest decrease are in Annamalai and Travancore, where the season was unfavourable and in Madras, where good crops have partly replaced sugarcane.

3. The crop was adversely affected by high temperatures in the summer and the intrusion of the north-west monsoon, but improved considerably with the September rains. Shorter rains did some damage in South Arcot and North Arcot and late planted cane suffered from frost in South Kanara.

4. Yields, much below normal, are reported from Panjani and Virupachari, where the season was very abnormal, and yields below normal, from Bellary, Kolar, Anaparthi, North Arcot, and South Arcot. In July, improved after the summer of the season, and the yield will be probably a one-fifth per cent of the average. The seasonal losses for the Presidency works out to 41 per cent of the average. This works out to a yield of 238,700 tons of paddy.

4. Figures by districts are given below:—

(Area in hundreds of acres, i.e., 00 being omitted; yield in hundreds of tons of paddy, i.e., 00 being omitted.)
